Cotton Dresses in Great Demand-Exercise for Young Girls-Blue Serge for Excursions and Boating-No Change in Wedding Rings.

Cotton dresses are to be seen in numbers t seems to be the fashion to trim them with black lace, arranged as a narrow flounce at the hem in front, caught up in festoons, the sleeves covered with black lace, also the front of the bodies. In good truth, these would seem to be the two points in which the smartsess of a gown centres, and black and white gutnure, and many cabochons, are employed upon them, and used also on the inevitable frill round the walst, in place of basque.

That Awful Trial.

William H. Furness. There is less change in wedding rings that anything else in the lewelry line. The vedding ring is about the same to-day as was a century ago. The marriage token car hardly be improved upon. It is a ring of pure gold. It is softly rounded, and if you hang it on a piece of string and strike it gently it wil ring out an indescribably soft and sweet sound. Ladies often wear numerous rings which carry no significance, except, perhaps, in some instances a hint of the pos-session of wealth. Twenty-five years ago it was unusual to see a woman wearing hey like the vampire's decision?" she asked. The more one can crowd on her dainty digit. "By Jove" returned Cadley, very much the better she appears to be pleased. While excited; "that's just what he is." woman are most mindful of the harmony of their dress, they jumble diamonds, rubics, pearls garnets, and other precious stones to gether in ridiculous confusion.
